

Figure 1:
GRACE MURRAY HOPPER

1 GRACE MURRAY HOPPER

GRACE was an American computer scientist and she was also a U.S NAVY rear Admiral. She created the FLOW-MATIC programming language by using a theory of machine independent programming languages which she devised and then the programming language was then used to create COBOL.